UPSTATE ART WEEKEND 2025 HIGHLIGHTS FROM HUDSON VALLEY, CATSKILLS, AND BEYOND

46 Gordon, The Campus

Some of the most talked about highlights on view this year included 46 Gordon, a collaborative feminist performance-sculpture presented by The Campus in Hudson. Created by sculptor Nicole Cherubini and choreographer Julia K. Gleich, the work transformed a domestic interior into a meditative, durational performance space inspired by Virginia Woolf's A Room of One's Own. Across seventeen minutes, performers activated the sculptural installation through subtle gestures and inhabitation, inviting viewers to reconsider the aesthetics of labor, intimacy, and space-making. As a feminist intervention into both domestic and artistic spheres, 46 Gordon elegantly merged choreography, sculpture, and literature into a single immersive gesture.
